Proficiency in Reading Skill

Educationist scholars differ in opinion about the time for starting reading. Some like Jes person believe that reading should start after two months of oral work. Others like Prof. Surrency are of the opinion that reading should be delayed for one year.

In fact; the starting time of reading depends heavily on the state of knowledge of students.

A Teacher can Start Reading When:

- (i) Students have sufficient grasp of auditory signs.
- (ii) They can recognize printed symbols.
- (iii) They can understand English to a reasonable degree.
- (iv) They can speak in English to a reasonable degree.

In this way we may say that proficiency in reading skill ~~is~~ needs much more attention of teacher towards their students.
